Executive Summary:

It is an admitted fact that people of different religions, casts, languages and sects have been living together peacefully in the same region or country. They used to share their happiness's and grieve. They helped each other at the hour of need. In Pakistan people of different casts and sects used to intermarry they were together at every occasion of happiness and trouble. This is even the case till now among majority of the people. Yet there are few people who want to spoil peace and wanted to harm the country and the nation. Their motto is just to create intolerance, extremism, disorderness and terrorism and accumulate money and wealth.

Religious divide, sectarianism, lingual differences, thrust for power and unemployment are helping fuel a resurgence of conflict in the world especially in the Islamic countries. Growing sectarian clashes have also become very common. This has given birth to many extremist networks and violent groups that are a great threat for international peace.

Pakistan is a poor developing country. According to different media channels Pakistan is at number three in the world where religious intolerance, extremism, lingual and ethnic differences and terrorism is at its highest peak. Hundreds of people are killed every year. This condition is even worst in southern Punjab especially in Muzaffargarh district.

District Muzaffargarh is one of the most backward and far-flung areas. Due to traditional norms, unawareness, illiteracy, traditional feudalism, frequent natural disasters ,sectarianism, extremism, militancy and so many other reasons a large number of people are suffering Physical, mental, social and financial problems. Life is very painful there because community is badly chained by illiteracy, poverty, male domination, conflicts and superstitions, drugs abuse, disputes of one caste to another caste.

Due to extremism and sectarianism, youth of Muzaffargarh have been affected badly. To end the trend of zero tolerance, lingual casts and sectarian differences, there is a need to raise awareness on religious and social harmony in order to inculcate peace, tolerance and respect of other groups among the affected youth.

To save youth from joining violent groups and to involve them in constructive activities SANJH Pakistan has implemented a project (Campaign for the promotion of peace and tolerance through Interactive Theater) with the collaboration of UmeedJawan. Through this project SANJH has made 23 Aman committees in tehsil KotAdu and Muzaffargarh and linked these committees with district management and district Aman Committee. Implementation Challenges:

- For the formation of Aman committees it was difficult task to motivate and mobilize the community members to become the part of Aman committees without any payment.
- It was a big challenge to convince females of rural areas to become the part of Aman committees due to cultural barriers.
- It was big challenge to bring Job holders like teachers in two days training of Executive members of Aman Committees.
- Especially the participation of female executive members was a challenging task in two days training of Aman Committees. Women are not allowed to participate with male in any activity.
- It was difficult task to train the new actors in interactive theater training program and to make them able to perform in a group in front of large number of people.
- It is a very difficult thing to mobilize girls to take part in training of acting. It was a big challenge to motivate female to participate in interactive theater plays.
- After Peshawar incident a great threat is spread in all school and the management hesitated to allow their students for participation in any program the heads of different institutions were much reluctant for sending their students especially female to participate in singing and acting competitions.
- In singing and acting competition it was very difficult for female to participate and come on stage along with male due to cultural barriers.
- We faced challenges for conducting interactive theater and singing program at schools. Most of schools owners were not agreed to sign MOU with SANJH-PK for conducting program, they thought it will be a waste of time
- It was a big challenge for SANJH Pakistan to conduct theater and singing program in those schools where visit of PEF team was expected or students were busy in monthly tests.
- There was tenting problem for theater programs in schools which were too much far from city; similarly the issue of scorching heat and security were also there.

- In Aman Mela and Youth festival Program, the gathering of youth was much high. It was a big challenge to take attendance from such a huge number and manage them in a hall.
- One of the biggest challenges was to accommodate all performers because time was short and participants were in a very large number.

Although SANJH Pakistan completed the project successfully yet we learnt some lessons which are as follows:

- Although duration of the project was so short yet SANJH Succeeded to complete it with extra ordinary effort and by engaging extra staff and proper management.
- There should be some honorarium for executive members of Aman Committees so that they work more efficiently.
- Aman committees should keep proper record of their steps taken to promote peace and tolerance they should be given more time and fortnightly or monthly meetings should be conducted.
- Aman Committees for female should have been separate so they can work more and without any hesitation.
- Training of Aman committees should be of three days to clear theme of their work.
- No professional singer or actor should be involved in singing and acting competition.
- Interactive theaters were very few many more people wanted to organize interactive theater in their localities and schools.
- Theater groups should be bound by giving jobs. They should be given salaries so that they can give proper time.
- The numbers of interactive theater programs should more.
- All stakeholders should be involved in all activities.
